Heritage Cove commemorative plaques (2023)

When the three hundred and nine families that were called to settle the St. George area first arrived in November of 1861, they camped at this location. After the townsite lots of Saint George were surveyed and staked out on the ground, the names of each family were 'drawn from a hat' to determine where they would build their homes and plant their gardens.

Encampment Mall was dedicated by President Gordon Hinckley in 1998. A full list of all 309 families was its centerpiece.
