GENERAL OUTLINE

It is intended that the program start promptly at 2 o'clock p. m. and finish about 3:30 or 4:00 o'clock. Dancing will then be started and continue until dark, on the new bridge. In the meantime refreshments consisting of fresh fruit, grapes, melons, etc., will be spread out on tables to which the public may help themselves.

Surviving members of the first band of pioneers to come over the road—the route which has now been accepted as the best—which they made passable as they went along, will be guests of honor at the celebration.

It will be some celebration. Let's all take it in. It will only take one-half a day and nearly everybody can afford that much time. If you have a car and some room in it to spare take some of your less fortunate neighbors along, or notify the chairman of the transportation committee that you can take somebody.

"Let's Go," hear good music, have a merry dance and enjoy a good time generally.
