INTRODUCTORY.

R. L. Polk & Co.'s Utah State Gazetteer and Business Directory for 1903-1904, being the second edition of this publication, is presented with the assurance that the knowledge gained in the past has been used to full advantage in the production of this work.

The experience of over a third of a century in directory making has brought the Gazetteer up to a standard of excellence which has made it a useful and necessary publication in all business, political and social affairs.

The Utah State Gazetteer is identical with similar works published generally for nearly all the States and Territories throughout the Union by the same company, except that this work includes a list of the land owners, farmers and taxpayers, obtained and compiled from official records. It covers the entire State of Utah, embracing sketches of all the cities, villages, postoffices, railroad stations and settlements. It represents over 300,000 people who dwell in the State, and is the surest, most effective and most economical record of reaching the entire population of the State.

The use of Gazetteers is becoming more general every year, and their importance as business factors is now generally recognised. There is nothing more conducive to the development and extension of commerce and trade than an easy means of communication, such as is afforded by a reliable Gazetteer. It is a complete exposition of all the resources of the State, and every citizen is benefited by its publication, as they are benefited by the Boards of Trade, Chambers of Commerce and Commercial Bodies, organised to gather and disseminate exactly the same information as the Gazetteer provides. It is an unexcelled medium for use in the purchase of goods, and every business man should avail himself of the opportunity which it offers for the classification of his wares and for keeping his name and card where they may be found at all times by those who seek such information.

The first section of the volume (pages 49 to 83) consists of Miscellaneous Information, such as the Utah State Government, State Boards and Institutions, State Judiciary, Military, Legislature, County Officers, etc., and the Utah Public School Directory, which contains a list of the City and County Superintendents of Schools, Boards of Education, list of Universities, Colleges, etc., school districts and trustees, and a full and complete list of all the county school teachers, arranged by counties, as well as a list of the public school teachers of the cities of Salt Lake, Ogden, Provo and Logan. In this section of the work will also be found a list of the United States Officers located in the State of Utah, also a revised and complete list of the postoffices of the State.

The second section of the work (pages 83 to 489) consists of a list of all the cities, villages, postoffices, railroad stations and settlements in the State, with a descriptive sketch of each place, showing their location and topography, population and resources, with the names of all business and professional men following under the sketch for each place.

The third section of the work (pages 470 to 623) contains the names of all Farmers and Land Owners of the State, arranged by counties, giving the number of acres owned, assessed valuation of same, and owner's postoffice address. These names have been obtained from the official tax lists at each county seat, and are therefore considered correct.

The fourth section of the work (pages 623 to 808) contains a general classified list of all the industries and productions of the State, including all the trades, professions, manufactures and pursuits. Here each line of trade and profession is arranged in alphabetical order, with an alphabetical arrangement of the postoffice following, and the names of all persons opposite.

Attention is called to page 35, on which will be found an index, giving the number of page on which any desired information can be obtained. This index should be referred to by all, until they become familiar with the different departments of the work.

We take this opportunity of thanking one and all, who have kindly furnished us with needed information, and the business and professional men of the State, who by their patronage, have materially aided us in producing this volume. The third revised edition will be issued in due time, with such improvements as the wants of our patrons may require.

UTAH.

Utah's natal day was July 24, 1847. That date was the beginning of a new era in the United States, for it marked the founding of an empire within the realms of the republic of all republics in this world. And here, be it understood the term empire is only used to signify greatness as it relates to vastness of territory and richness of resource. In the closing years of the fourteenth century the renowned Genoese navigator proved to doubting mankind that there was another continent upon this globe. At least that was the result of his effort to find a new ocean passage to the Indies. The importance of the discovery has been overshadowed by no single event in history, aside from that which gave Christianity to a fallen race. In the settlement of the new hemisphere the coming of the Pilgrims to the shores of the Atlantic was an epoch which enjoys a distinct place in the history of our country. In the reclamation of the desert wilds that "lie between the mountains and the Great Pacific Sea," as sung by one of the poets of the olden day, the arrival of the Pioneers on the shores of America's mysterious saline lake, records an event fraught with no less of good, and of marvelous similarity in actuating motives and results achieved. It is a long jump from Columbus to the Pilgrim Fathers, and from the latter to Brigham Young and the dauntless band of Empire Builders who followed him into the uninviting domain of what became in very deed the Promised Land. But the names of all will ever stand out conspicuously on the pages of history as among the greatest benefactors to humankind.

The story of the desolate picture that the Pioneers gazed upon when they emerged through the deep defiles of Emigration Canyon and looked westward over the valley toward the Great Salt Lake that lay glistening in the hot summer sun is one that has been told times without number, but which always maintains its hold upon reader or listener. Forbidding to the last degree was the vision that their tired eyes beheld; and when their leader, himself sick and wasted with the ravages of disease wrought by untold hardships and suffering, said "This is the place; drive on," their hearts sank within them. But they soon rose again and became buoyant and cheerful under the masterful magnetism of him whom they followed. On they went through the sagebrush down the dry and scorched face of the plateau until the site of the future chief city of Zion was reached. They were now in the very heart of the American Desert. They had been told that starvation and utter and hopeless ruin would be their fate if they attempted to stay there permanently. That farming was impossible. That a thousand dollars would be given for the first ear of corn or bushel.
of wheat that could be produced upon the salty wastes. But that pledge was never kept, and, as if the promise was destined to be wrecked and made ridicuous beyond all compare, time and toil made it possible for an acre of ground in the valley of the Great Salt Lake to yield a larger number of bushels of wheat than any other piece of land of the same size in the United States.

"The time that is lost today can never be regained," was the maxim that these sturdy pilgrims of western civilization had long since learned. And it will be seen that they applied it quickly upon reaching the spot where their future destinies were to be worked out. The date of their arrival, it will be remembered, was July 24th. In this degree of latitude and longitude the growing season is pretty well over by that time. They knew that. But their condition was serious. It was absolutely necessary to have every ounce of food for the winter that would soon be upon them and for their fellow-pilgrims who were not far behind.

Accordingly, within a comparatively few hours the virgin soil had been broken by plows, and the planting of potatoes commenced. The latter had been hauled across the plains a thousand miles to be used for seed purposes whenever the long-looked-for stopping place had been reached. Often times when hunger pressed heavily there had been danger of them being used. But, hungered though they were, they recognized a time of greater need in the future, and for the future they were kept. The ground into which they were put was as moistureless as an ash heap, and, as there was no indication of rain, something had to be done, and Brigham Young was the man who knew what to do. There was a little stream of water coming out of City Creek Canyon which however, was licked up by the thirsty gravel bed along which it coursed before it had got very far.

"Brethren," said Brigham, "we will divert that stream at the mouth of the canyon by means of a small dam, and with a plow make a little channel that will convey the water down here where we have planted our potatoes. By turning it onto the ground we will get the moisture that rain has failed to give and start our crop."

Who will say that this suggestion was not an inspiration? Brigham Young nor the courageous associates by whom he was surrounded knew anything of irrigation. They were from the New England States, principally. Irrigation had never been tried there. But "Necessity is the mother of invention," and when Necessity cried out for action a wise leader knew how to act. It took three days and nights for the tiny stream to thread its way from a point a few rods above the Eagle Gate to where stands the magnificent Knutsford Hotel of today. It was a time of solicitude, a time of mighty test. But finally the water got down to the potato farm, and as its new and narrow bed became thoroughly soaked the supply increased, and soon it was distributed where wanted. The result was that a very fair crop was raised that fall, and thus was irrigation given to modern America by a pilgrim band of home-seeking Anglo-Saxon people. The mete-wand has not been made that can measure the material benefits of that act. Without such a demonstration Utah would yet be a desert place and surrounding States a chimerical dream.

"Here," said the Pioneer leader, "we will build a city and rear a temple to our God." How grandly has that declaration been fulfilled. And other cities and other temples all through these mountain vales tip their spires into the nether deep and sing the song of happy homes and prosperous peoples, while a great group of Intermountain States join in the pean of praise to Utah, the pioneer of them all, and contribute of their substance for a thousand miles east, west, north and south to the natural supply center from which they must ever liberally draw.

While the Pioneers were laying the foundations of the future empire, of the Rockies, there came wonderful tales of riches discovered in California, of gold that could be had for the mere picking up. Days of temptation and test were those. The allurements to leave the little farms were great and many. Veterans still tell of them and hum reminiscently, "The days of old, the days of gold, the days of '49." The magic of that poetic and musical sentiment laid a strong hand upon the early settlers of Utah. They too, would elevate themselves away to the golden west to participate in the making of marvelous fortunes. But the man at their head was wiser than they. Said he: "We cannot eat gold and silver; we need bread and clothing first; neither do we want to bring here a roving, reckless frontier population to drive us again from our hard-earned homes. Let mining go for the present, until we are strong enough to take care of ourselves, and meantime engage in farming, stock raising, manufacturing and other healthful pursuits that lie at the basis of every State's prosperity."

The great majority of the people listened to these words of timely advice and remained in Utah, becoming slowly independent and prosperous. A few did not. They sought the golden fleece, but after a time most of them returned, poverty-stricken and exhausted, to begin anew the task of home-making. They learned by experience that "it is only one man in a hundred that makes a stake" at mining, anyway. Later on in the history of the Territory, when homes had been built and agriculture made a success, the people gradually turned their attention to join with the incoming population from the east in the work of carving treasures of the mountains from their rocky resting places.

Utah was a Territory from September 9, 1850, to January 4, 1896, when it was admitted into the Union as the forty-fifth State. Prior to the coming of the Pioneers it belonged to Mexico, but was taken possession of in the name of Uncle Sam, and the Stars and Stripes flung to the breeze as a notification to the world of the seizure. The importance of the act can scarcely be computed. The domain that was taken was as large as it was desolate. It had been described in a debate in the Senate Chamber by Daniel Webster as "a vast and worthless area." How complete today is the refutation of that statement!

The wilderness that the great Webster derided and feared has long since been a "land flowing with milk and honey;" a land of productive farms and fruit-yielding orchards; of vineyards and gardens; of industrious people whose vocations are multifarious, but who depend largely upon the fruitfulness of Mother Earth, and who also follow the occupation of the ranchman and sheep-grower; whose live stock "cover a thousand hills," and whose products greatly exceed home consumption and find a ready market in States roundabout; whose factories, mills and mines give employment to thousands and send their wealth coursing through the arteries of trade, thus adding to the wealth and well-being of a people already prosperous and contented.

While agriculture was, and probably will always be the real basis of wealth in Utah, still the fact must be noted that mining has become a mighty industry—an industry that now adds its millions of gold, copper, silver, lead, iron and coal annually to the State, until it stands fourth or fifth in the rank of metal producers, with the prospect of moving up still farther in the column. Among its mines are some of the best that have ever been discovered in this country, and their dividends are as certain as the interest upon Government bonds. The money that is pouring into the coffers of their fortunate owners is making them rich beyond the dreams of avarice. Investments from this direction are developing resources and turning the wheels of industry in every part of the State. Handsome homes and big business blocks are being erected, while millions are being spent in railroad construction and betterments. Altogether the outlook, from an industrial point of view, is very bright, and a prosperous future for Utah can be as easily foretold as an astronomical or other event of science. The days of tardy growth are all behind. Those ahead are as full of promise as anything reassuring can be. The eyes of uninvested capital are turned upon us. Capital already invested is perfectly contented, and the day for big things is upon us. In the forward march there is none of the boom element. Conservatism and industry go hand in hand. Ere long their force will make of Utah a giant in the richly favored region in which she shines resplendent and glorious.

Columns of statistics might be utilized to prove the claim of the strong place that Utah occupies in the great group of trans-Mississippi States; of the prodigal manner in which nature has endowed her with material things that conduce to the welfare of man that are either found sparingly in other places or not at all; of her industry and progressive ideas; of her unquestioned commercial credit and established business reputation; of her splendid public schools and educational status; of the social and musical advantages for which she is renowned, and countless other attractions that make the Beehive State a desirable place in which to live. But these are needless and irksome. It is enough to know that in 1903 Utah is growing faster than ever before; that her star is in the ascendant and that it will continue to shine in constantly increasing brilliancy through the years to come.

Within the extremes of Utah there are produced all the hardier varieties of fruits and vegetables common to the colder sections of the United States; all the kinds that are grown in the temperate zone and many that are produced in the semi-tropical sections, such as pomegranates, figs and almonds. Even cotton is successfully grown. The production of silk has become quite a factor, and is commanding wide attention. During recent years the manufacture of beet sugar has assumed vast proportions, and like the products of farms, orchards, mines and mills, will in 1903, break all the records of the past.

The climatic and scenic attractions of Utah are among the best in all this favored land. The sun shines more than 300 days in the year. There are cool places near at hand in the summer time, and warm ones in winter; resorts where the flush of health is brought back to the invalid, and where the strong are made more vigorous. Pure air, thermal springs, salt and fresh water baths and breezes from mountains and inland sea all contribute their quota to the general benefit. In the matter of rugged scenes and pictures unusual Utah is more richly endowed than Switzerland, and its fame as a wonderland in this land of wonders is destined to become world famous.—JOHN E. HANSEN, City Editor "The Deseret News."

supply has very seldom been equal to the demand. All kinds of fruit, however, can be raised at a profit and of fine quality. Immense orchards of peaches and prunes have been planted in recent years and are just beginning to be productive. Raising sugar beets is now receiving considerable attention also, and promises to be a profitable industry. The city has a natural advantage over any other in the State—it is never muddy. Built on an immense wash of gravel from the Box Elder canyon, no matter how hard it may rain, a few hours of sunshine will make the streets practically dry. This peculiarity of the soil does not, however, interfere with irrigation, and it is highly productive. The city has an electric light system, a woollen mill making an excellent quality of cloth and yarn, a creamery, a number of mercantile houses, one drug store, a bank, a tannery, a planing mill, lumber yards and one newspaper, The Box Elder News.

While distinctively a Mormon community, there are two other churches established, the M. E. and Presbyterian, which have neat church buildings.

The public library, in its own cozy building, is deserving of special mention. The city is supplied with pure water from the Box Elder canyon, and has an excellent water system owned by the city, which will be extended and improved. The extension of the Bear River canal to this city, which is being strongly agitated at the present time, would double the population and wealth of the city in a very few years.

The city was first settled in 1852 and the pioneers had to contend with many handshaps and privations before the soil could be made productive and the environment suitable for civilized living.
It is now, with its abundance of trees neat gardens and homes, wide streets

tain more than 25,000 inhabitants when the census of 1900 was taken. Logan is the natural distributing center for these, as well as for a number of prosperous towns in southern Idaho, which lie within the valley.

Cache County is known as the "Granary of Utah," and well it deserves the title. The harvest of 1902 amounted to over 2,000,000 bushels of wheat, 125,000 bushels of oats, 15,000 bushels of barley, 20,000 tons of lucern, 200,000 bushels of potatoes, 250,000 bushels of corn, 40,000 tons of sugar beets, besides thousands of bushels of fruits and tons of hay other than lucern. One creamery alone produced 350,000 pounds of cheese, 150,000 pounds of butter, requiring the milk of 1400 cows, amounting to 7,000,000 pounds, and there are eight creameries. Salt Lake comes to Cache Valley to purchase its driving and draft horses. Cache County has 10,000 of them, besides 100,000 sheep and 10,000 hogs, and other agricultural resources too numerous to mention. As we have remarked, Logan is the distributing center of the valley, therefore shares in the general prosperity.

But aside from being the county seat, and the distributing center, Logan has many claims of her own. It is a healthy city. Its air and water are pure, and while citizens of the capitol suffer from sweltering heat, its evenings and nights are cool and invigorating. Protection from fire in the main part of town is afforded by a pressure of 140 pounds to the square inch. It has fine, broad, shaded streets and tree-embowered homes. Its electric light system covers nearly the entire town, both as to street and private service.

Logan's manufacturing facilities have not yet been exploited to one-tenth part of their capacity. Every day thousands of horse-power runs to waste, but at the same time nowhere in the State is water or electric power more cheap. The same statement may be truthfully made as to the cost of living. The necessities of life are so abundant and there is such sharp competition in the sale of its luxuries that the cost of living is reduced to the minimum.

Educationally, Logan leads the van. It has two of the foremost institutions of learning in the State. The Agricultural and Brigham Young Colleges, each of which has an annual attendance of 500 students, drawn from Canada, Mexico and all intermediate points. Besides these institutions there is the New Jersey-Presbyterian Academy, which has a thorough high school course. Then, the common, district schools of Logan enjoy such a reputation that people within a radius of 100 miles seek the advantages of their curriculum.

As a business proposition Logan's merchants receive all the credit they wish, because they are always prepared to meet their obligations.

Then, Logan is the center of great mining possibilities, which are being developed as rapidly as the circumstances of their owners will permit.

At present, judged from the possibilities, the current price of choice business and residence property, taken in con-

LOGAN, UTAH.

Founded July 24, 1877.

COMPRIZES THE FOLLOWING SCHOOLS:

School of Arts, offers a course leading to the degree A. B.
School of Civil Engineering, offering work leading to the degree B. S.
The work in this school equals that offered in similar colleges of the country.

Normal School, up to date and thorough in its instruction.

Business School, the work done here is better than that of the exclusively business college.

Domestic Arts School, gives the highest grade of instruction in Cooking, Plain Sewing, Dressmaking, and other related subjects.

Mechanic Arts School, no more practical work done by any similar school in the State. Come and see it and be convinced.

High School, the Classical and Scientific and Preparatory Engineering courses of this department are designed to give general culture, and to prepare for scientific, engineering, and arts courses in colleges or universities.

School of Music, including voice culture and instruction on piano, violon, organ, and other instruments.

Missionary School, designed to equip missionaries for active work in the missionary fields without their waiting to be coached when arriving at their fields of labor.

Preparatory School, for young men and young women who have had poor opportunities in their home schools.

Training School, which furnishes our graduating normals with practical work in the school room that makes them capable of the most thorough work when entering the profession of teaching.

We invite all to visit the College and be convinced that the work we are doing fully justifies us in making the above statements.

plied with churches of nearly all denominations, including the Adventist, Baptist, Christian Science, Church of Jesus Christ of L. D. S., Congregational, Episcopal, Lutheran, Methodist, Presbyterian and the Re-organized Church of L. D. S. Some of the edifices erected by the congregations of these churches are imposing structures.

Ogden has a first-class street railway system and splendid water works. The latter supply is taken from the Ogden River in Ogden Canyon, and is always fresh, clear and cold, direct from the mountain streams. The average pressure maintained is 125 pounds. The city is well supplied with good hotels, has five banks, several daily and weekly papers, a splendid hospital, and a public library. A very handsome new library building, presented to the city by Hon. Andrew Carnegie, has been completed during the year and the library contains over 4000 volumes.

In the matter of public parks and buildings Ogden is especially favored. The city is also the headquarters of the Amalgamated Sugar company, whose factory is located on the outskirts of the city. This company manufactures an excellent quality of sugar and employs a large force of men.

The City Government consists of a Mayor and ten City Councillmen. The police and fire departments are fully equipped and well officered. Sessions of the United States Court for the District of Utah are held in this city on the second Mondays of March and September of each year.

Ogden has a number of manufacturing industries and they are increasing from year to year. Several large canning factories are located in or near the city, and the tomatoes and other vegetables and fruits canned and placed on the market by these companies have a national reputation.

The present City Mayor is Hon. Wm. Glasemann and the Postmaster is Mr. Thomas H. Davis.

PROVO CITY.

Nestling close to the beautiful Wasatch mountains, on an alluvial plain made by Provo River, is situated the City of Provo, the county seat of Utah County.

Provo has long been distinguished as the Garden City of the State, and well is it deserving of the distinction, because of the rich soil which it possesses. For long years past rich deposits of vegetation have been made until its soil is now the most productive of any in the State. Beautiful gardens and productive orchards and vineyards abound in abundance in the city and near by vicinity.

Provo is eminently a residence town. Situated, as it is, only forty-three miles from the Capitol of the State, and blessed with splendid railroad facilities, being a central point for the Denver & Rio Grande and San Pedro, Los Angeles & Salt Lake Railroads, it is naturally a most desirable dwelling place for business and traveling men.

The Garden City is one of the Pioneer towns of our State. In 1849 a little band of Mormons pitched their tents on Provo River, where they determined to make for themselves permanent homes. Although they met with many vicissitudes and hardships yet, being frugal, sincere and honest, their hands built up a city that today is third in population and industry in our State. Its population is 7500 people, and it is today one of the great commercial centers of our commonwealth.

While Provo City is one of the most desirable residence towns of Utah, yet it stands foremost among our cities as a commercial center, the climate and scenery and naturally beautiful surroundings making it a most pleasant residence place. It is also a desirable
The Brigham Young Academy, a prominent educational institution of the Mormon Church, is Provo's educational cornerstone. It was founded in 1871. The campus has grown significantly since its inception. The school now offers bachelor's and master's degrees in a variety of fields. The current enrollment is approximately 5,000 students. The campus is located on 50 acres of land and includes 20 buildings. The total cost of building and land is estimated at $10 million. The campus has been described as a 'secondary city' due to its size and facilities.

The Provo City Hall, located at 410 N. Center St., is a historic building that was constructed in 1877. It is the oldest continuously operating government building in Utah. The building has housed various city departments, including the police and fire departments. The current mayor is Jim Strachan, who has been in office since 2019.

The Provo Museum, located at 214 W. Center St., is a museum dedicated to the history of Provo. The museum has a collection of artifacts and exhibits that tell the story of Provo's past. The museum is open to the public and admission is free.

The Provo City Library, located at 101 W. Center St., is a public library that serves the community of Provo. The library has a collection of over 100,000 books, magazines, and other materials. The library also offers a variety of programs and services, including storytime for children, computer classes, and research assistance.

The Provo Philharmonic Orchestra, a professional orchestra that performs in Provo and the surrounding areas. The orchestra was founded in 1959 and has a strong tradition of high-quality performances. The orchestra's current conductor is Dr. Jonathan Hargis. The orchestra performs a variety of concerts throughout the year, including classical, pops, and pops-in-the-park concerts.
miles of wire for the transmission of electricity, and the cost of the present plant amounts to $700,000.

Aside from these more important industries in Provo City, there are numerous business houses that are in a flourishing condition. Among them being twenty grocery stores, five barber shops, four drug stores, three jewelry stores, two express offices, two cigar factories, one knitting factory, three bicycle shops, two farm implement houses, two hardware stores, one marble engraving company, one pressed brick factory, four millinery stores, two banks with adequate capitalizations, one opera house, two newspapers, two wholesale produce houses, one meat and packing company, that does a business of $60,000 a year, three butcher shops, one bottling factory, four dry goods houses, 'six ladies' and gents' furnishings and clothing houses, one iron foundry, three plumbing establishments, two bakeries, one large department house, conducted by Taylor Brothers Company; four tailoring establishments, two clothes cleaning and dyeing places, one electric light company, two livery stables, two flour mills, two lumber and planing mills, four shoe-making shops, four job printing offices, one book bindery, six churches, one electric car company, two city parks, five blacksmith shops, two steam laundries, eight fraternal lodges, five social clubs, the Western Union Telegraph Service, Rocky Mountain Bell Telephone Service, two coal companies, six physicians, four dentists, three hotels, a branch of the Z. C. M. I., which does a business of nearly $1,000,000 a year in and around Provo, two undertaking establishments, a good volunteer fire department.

The revenues of the postoffice of Provo have reached a point to justify the Government in establishing a free delivery, together with two rural postal routes, so that the best mail service that is found in any city is in force in Provo.

Aside from the Brigham Young Academy, which school is giving splendid courses in higher education, we have a public school system that is second to none in the State of Utah, there being four modern school buildings within the city, well equipped with modern fixtures and school furnishings, and in which is employed the best talent among the teachers of the State for the conducting of the schools. The Proctor Academy is also a flourishing school of the Congregational church.

A splendid sewer system has within the last few years, been laid in the city, and many modern residence places which use this system have recently been built.

Our streets are kept clean and are beautified by elegant shade trees on either side, and there now exists twelve blocks of paved sidewalks. One of the most attractive boulevards to be found within the inter-mountain region has been built in Provo. It extends for a distance of nine miles, having a river front of three miles and a lake front of two and a half miles. This is one of the beauties of Provo in which all her citizens pride themselves, and it is contemplated that within a very short time the boulevard will be improved to the point which will make it one of the most attractive features in the entire Western country.

Utah lake is a beautiful body of fresh water extending from Lehi on the north to Spanish Fork on the south in Utah county, a distance of thirty miles, having an average width of twelve miles. It lies within only a few miles of Provo City and furnishes a most excellent opportunity for beautiful summer resorts. It abounds in all kinds of fish, such as: bass, carp, catfish, suckers and lake trout. Quite an extensive fishing industry is conducted on this lake, as high as 11,000 pounds of fish being drawn from its waters at one time. All fish caught in the lake are sent to the Eastern market through the Provo wholesale dealers.

Provo has also become a popular point for Eastern tourists, lying as it does within only a few miles of as beautiful and commanding summer and fishing resorts as may be found within the confines of any country. Only a short run of ten miles over the Rio Grande, carries the tourist from the Garden City to the beautiful Provo Canyon, where the scenery cannot be excelled and trout fishing is unequalled. Mountain trout are numerous and unsurpassed in quality.

Aside from this, the valuation of the city property amounts to over $2,000,000 annually, upon which a tax levy furnishes ample revenue for the building up of the city in accordance with the most modern ideas pertaining to city governments. Take it all in all, Provo is indeed, the Garden City of the West, a fit abode for the capitalist, the business man, the homeseeker and the tourist.

BLUE BOOK

IS A SOCIAL and household convenience, intended to supply in the family the place of the business directory in the counting room. While the design of the work imposes a limit on its contents and liberty of selection, it is not a book of the peerage. The names of prominent householders and society people are arranged alphabetically by names and numerically by streets. It is primarily a book for the use of ladies. It will be found a most convenient book of reference in making out a calling list, or in addressing invitations. It directs to places of amusement, to public buildings, to places of general resort, and includes a valuable shopping guide.

CHARLES BLOCK, Fifteenth and Curtis, DENVER, COLO.
SALT LAKE CITY.

(By Fisher Harris of the Commercial Club.)

I am not one of those who believe that the population of this city will reach the 300,000 mark in the next decade. Of course, I recognize the fact that such an increase is possible, though I do not regard it as probable. The successful exploitation of the very promising oil fields of western Wyoming and eastern Utah, or the discovery of a new and marvelously rich mining district within the State, are two of the many possible causes for such an increase as is expected by many of our sanguine citizens. But these are contingencies, and the conservative business man does not rely greatly upon contingencies.

The fact is, however, that without these adventitious aids the future of Salt Lake is assured and neither clairvoyance nor the gift of prophecy is necessary to demonstrate that those of us who may be here ten years hence will see a great, beautiful, prosperous and progressive Western city. I understand, of course, that this is generalization, and in order to win credence should be based upon a more substantial reason than mere personal opinion. In the first place, consider how much nature has done for us here. Men and women of means and leisure spend thousands of dollars and circle the globe, in order to see more famous, but far less beautiful scenes than those presented from almost any view point in this valley. Nowhere, perhaps, in the world are the mountains more ruggedly beautiful and picturesque than are those that encircle the city, and certainly nowhere on this continent can one find more charming exhibitions of the ever-changing beauties of nature than are found in the numberless canyons that lie at our very doors.

From early springtime until the beginning of winter these great gorges, through which the waters of the mountains escape from imprisonment, are a constant delight to the lover of nature and furnish delicious places of rest and recreation for the tired business man and the wearied housewife. I can add nothing to what has been said and sung in every land and language about the great, blue sea that lies to the west of us. It is the crowning glory of the landscape, the wonder of the world. Can you show me another spot on Mother Earth where such a combination is found?

There are cities that point with pride to their mountains, others boast of their lake front, and still others of their valleys or beautiful homes. Here, we fortunate people have them all—mountains, canyons, lake and valley, embraced in one grand scheme of beauty—and over all a sky as blue as any that bends over sunny Italy.
Is it any wonder that with such natural environment Utah should produce more than her proportion of painters, poets, sculptors and musicians? Yet surroundings such as I have briefly mentioned are but desirable adjuncts to life. Man cannot live on scenery, and the visions of the day dreamer are continually being disturbed by grosser thoughts of how he may earn his daily bread.

The careful man in search of a permanent abiding place has many things to consider. He will want to know much about the material resources of the city of his choice; its promise for the future; its schools and churches; its climate, the character of its business men and its social life. We can confidently commend Salt Lake City to him from all these standpoints of interest. Materially speaking, Salt Lake City is not “just entering upon a period of unexampled prosperity,” to quote from the advertising pamphlets of many communities. The prosperity is here now, and while it may not be “unexampled,” it is nevertheless great, substantial and comforting. It is in the air and is evidenced on every hand and in all the walks of our business and social life. Ride about the city and you will find in every business and residence block new buildings going up, ranging in importance from the cottage home of the poor man to the palace of the mining king.

The records of the building inspector show that during the year 1902 permits were issued for the erection of new buildings costing in the aggregate $2,567,660, an increase over 1901 of $1,141,290. And still the importunate cry is for more homes; for the people who are making money on the broad ranches and in the rich mining camps of Utah, Wyoming, Nevada, Idaho, Montana and western Colorado are coming here and establishing their household gods in this valley of the mountains. They are drawn hither by the characteristic American demand for the best in life, and they find it here, in our university, schools, colleges, theaters, churches and institutions of music and art.

If ever a community had right to pride in the high character of its schools it is this one. They are as nearly perfect as lavish expenditure backed by cultured judgment can make them. The numerous buildings in which the city’s children are taught are models of modern educational architecture and are not surpassed for comfort and convenience by anything of like kind in America. The officers and teachers represent the best imported and domestic talent and their efficiency is attested by the proficiency of their pupils. In my judgment, Salt Lake City will, within the next ten years, become the greatest educational center in the intermountain country, and her schools will be filled with the youth of the great States that are tributary to her markets.

From a commercial standpoint the city is most fortunately situated, being the geographical center of a vast region, the resources of which are being developed with marvelous rapidity.

For this inland empire with its increasing wealth and population, Salt Lake is the natural distributing point—the depot for supplies—and she has no rival within a radius of five hundred miles.

The jobbing trade of the city amounted last year to more than $35,000,000, and the building of the new railroads booked for the coming year will add greatly to the territory now invaded by her enterprising and successful merchants.

Speaking of railroads, reminds me that every one of the past twenty years has seen the building of many great railway lines into Salt Lake—on paper. None of them have heretofore materialized as projected, and the hearts of our people have been made sick with hope deferred. But it seems that even such gigantic things as railway lines come to those who patiently wait. The Denver & Northwestern railway, another connecting link between the capital cities of Colorado and Utah, designed to traverse the richest parts of both states, is an assured fact. Yesterday the calamity howlers declared vociferously that it would never be built—today the contracts are let for its construction and the work is being pushed with vigor and determination. For a generation our people have been looking with longing eyes toward Los Angeles and hoping for a railway connection with that beautiful and progressive city. This year witnesses the fruition of their hopes in this regard, and busy hands are, even as I write, building the grade that will make easy the coming of the San Pedro, Los Angeles & Salt Lake railway. I know nothing of what combinations of interest are behind these great enterprises.

nor do I greatly care. I do know, however, that their successful completion is now beyond question and that the appearance of this city in the role of a great railroad center is inevitable.

The wealth of Salt Lake City, which maintains her splendid schools and other institutions of culture and refinement and builds her beautiful homes, comes from many sources. Agriculture, stock raising and manufactories, all contribute, but from the mines of the State there is an unceasing and ever increasing stream of new, clean money, flowing always into the channels of her trade and commerce. In 1901 the mines of Utah paid in dividends the sum of $4,545,500, not counting the sums paid by close corporations, the amount of whose profits is not made public. This year the dividends on the listed stocks are half a million dollars in excess of those of 1901. The greater part of this sum remains and is reinvested here. It is well to remember in estimating the city's future that the mining industry of Utah is only in its infancy now. Every day records a new strike and witnesses the opening of new districts, and every year sees the list of dividend-paying properties grow longer, and the city is the inevitable beneficiary of this growth.
The business of the community is transacted through fifteen banking institutions which hold in their keeping approximately $30,000,000 of the people's money on deposit. Salt Lake has always been noted for the conservatism of its bankers and it has been so long since Mr. Dun has had occasion to record a failure here that it is difficult to recall it.

For the thoughtful citizen the future of the city has nothing but cheerful promise for the coming year and for the years that shall follow it.

All these signs point to a continuance of the steady and substantial growth that has marked our history for the past ten years. We have not had, and do not want a "boom."

TEMPLE BLOCK.

SALT LAKE TEMPLE.—The Latter-day Saints have four temples and nearly four hundred houses of worship in Utah. The largest temple is that at Salt Lake City. In April, 1851, the Church decided to construct this edifice on its present site. On February 14, 1853, the Temple site was dedicated and ground broken for the foundation. The corner stones were laid April 6, 1853. The building was completed and dedicated April 6, 1893.

The Temple is 186½ feet long and 99 feet wide, covering an area of 18,582 feet. Including the Temple Annex and smaller connected buildings, the cost of construction is about four million dollars. The Temple is built of granite, brought from a quarry about twenty miles distant. Before the advent of the railway to the quarry, in 1873, the huge blocks of stone were transported by ox teams; it took four yoke of oxen four days to transport a single large stone from the quarry to the Temple grounds. The Temple faces east and has six towers, three on the east end and three on the west end. The height of the rock work on the east central tower is 210 feet; on the west central tower 204 feet; on the walls of the main building 107½ feet. The thickness of the walls varies from 6 to 9 feet. The footing wall on which the building rests is 15 feet wide and 16 feet deep. The east central tower is surmounted by the figure of an angel proclaiming the everlasting gospel. (Rev. xiv., 6.) The figure is of hammered copper, covered with gold leaf, and is 12 5/4 inches high. The Temple is closed to the general public, being in use the greater part of the time for baptismal ceremonies and sacred gatherings. Other temples of the Latter-day Saints in Utah are located at Logan, Cache County; Mantle, Sanpete County, and St. George, Washington County.

TEMPLE BLOCK. — The Temple Block is forty rods square and contains ten acres. Besides the Temple and annexed buildings, there are in the square the Tabernacle, Assembly Hall, Bureau of Information, and a quaint old adobe building covering the United States meridian stone and astronomical instruments for taking observations. At the southeast corner of the block is a stone marking the base from which Salt Lake City is surveyed. The Temple block is surrounded by a stone and adobe wall which was completed August 15, 1854.

TABERNACLE.—The large Tabernacle, the roof of which consists of a single wooden arch, was commenced in 1865 and completed in April, 1870. It is 150 feet wide, 250 feet long, and 80 feet high, and has wonderful acoustic properties. It will seat comfortably about 8000 people. Religious services are held on Sundays at 2 p.m.

ASSEMBLY HALL.—The Assembly Hall is built of granite and is of Gothic architecture. The height of the central spire is 130 feet. The building is 68x120 feet. Its corner-stones were laid September 25, 1877, and the building was dedicated January 3, 1882. This hall will accommodate nearly 3000 people.

THE BUREAU OF INFORMATION occupies a new and elegant building near the south gates, erected at a cost of $8000. Reception rooms, toilets, etc., are provided and committees are always on hand to entertain visitors without charge.

THE GRAND ORGAN.

In the west end of the Tabernacle is situated the great organ, which in all probability is the widest and most favorably known pipe organ in the world. It has been conceded by visiting musicians from all over that this is the finest instrument in America, if not in the world. There are larger organs in existence, but none that equal this instrument, either in construction, variety or character of tonal quality. From the first it has been a wonderful instrument and one in which wide interest has been taken. It was constructed originally over thirty years ago entirely by Utah artisans and mostly from native materials. It was built under the direction of Joseph Ridges and later reconstructed by Niles Johnson, assisted by Shure Olsen, Henry Taylor and others. In later years many rapid strides have been made in organ construction and effects, and the Church authorities decided to have this instrument at least abreast of the times, or ahead of the times, and awarded the contract to the W. W. Kimball Co. of Chicago, who placed entire new mechanism is the instrument, using such of the old material as was good for years to come, in the way of pipes, and revolved the instrument according to modern schools. This work was completed about two years ago, and the organ has since that time been regarded as ne plus ultra in organ building. Such is the verdict of so eminent a critic as George W. Walter, organist of the Temple, Washington, D. C., who paid a special visit to Salt Lake City in April, 1901, for the purpose of studying this organ. His statements have been echoed by numerous prominent organists who have since visited the Great Organ.

The front towers have an altitude of 58 feet and the dimensions of the or-organ are 30 by 33 feet; it has 110 stops and accessories, and contains a total of over 5000 pipes, ranging in length from one-fourth inch to 32 feet. It comprises five complete organs—Solo, Swell, Great, Choir and Pedal; in other words, four key boards in addition to the pedals. It is capable of 400 tonal varieties. The different varieties of tone embodied in this noble instrument represent the instruments of an orchestra, military band, choir, as well as the deep and sonorous stops for which the organ is famed. There is no color, shade or tint of tone that cannot be produced upon it. The action is the Kimball Duplex Pneumatic. The organ is blown by a 10-horse power electric motor, and two gangs of feeders furnish 5000 cubic feet of air a minute when it is being played full. The organist is seated twenty feet from the instrument, which places him well amongst the choir. Undoubtedly the organ owes much to the marvelous acoustics of the Tabernacle, but even with this allowance made, it is still the most perfect instrument of its kind in existence. Free public recitals are given semi-weekly by Professor J. J. McClellan, the Tabernacle organist, aided by the best vocal talent. The Bureau of Information will cheerfully give tourists the hours of these functions.

The Tabernacle is of great interest to all people, whether of a religious turn of mind or not. Every Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock this immense structure, which is one of the largest auditoriums in this country and possesses acoustic properties unequalled by any other structure in America, is crowded with worshippers. The interior construction is so perfect that the dropping of a pin, or a whisper, can be heard at a distance of over two hundred feet.

The seats seen in close proximity to the organ accommodate an unpaid choir which has a membership of over 550 singers. Professor Evan Stephens is the director. This organization won second prize in the Eisteddfod at Chicago in 1893, and many unbiased critics believed it to be worthy of the first prize and so expressed themselves in public and in print. When the organ and choir join forces it is a tidal wave of sweetest harmony, of grand tone.

BEAUTIFUL SALTAIR.

One of the grandest sights for the traveler who visits the city of Salt Lake is the Great Pavilion, located at Saltair Beach, on the Great Salt Lake. This wonderful building is a monumental testimony of the enterprising energy of Utah citizens and Utah capital. It is situated thirteen miles due west from Salt Lake City, and is reached by a thirty-minute ride on the Salt Lake & Los Angeles Railway, which is especially equipped for the transportation of the immense crowds that patronize the resort every day during the season.

The various buildings of the immense Pavilion form a symmetrical group, with a large central structure connected with long, tapering piers at each end, curving toward the lake and surmounted by large, airy observatories. The architecture is after the Moorish style and the general effect is as beautiful as the structure is serviceable and substantial. This magnificent Pavilion was built at a cost of over $350,000 and was opened to the public July fourth, 1893.

The magnitude of this great structure can be appreciated only when one has had the pleasure of seeing it. In length it is 1200 feet, while the extreme width is 355 feet. The top of the main tower is 130 feet above the surface of the water. The lower floor is used principally for an immense lunch and refreshment bowery, it being provided with large tables and seats enough to accommodate over a thousand people at one time. The upper floor of the main building is used for dancing, and is one of the largest dancing floors in the world, its dimensions being 140x250 feet of clear floor, without a pillar or obstruction of any kind. A thousand couples dancing at one time is a frequent sight to be witnessed at this resort. The dancing floor is covered with a dome-shaped roof constructed after the plan of that covering the famed Salt Lake City Tabernacle. The bathing at this wonderful resort is the best, most exhilarating and healthful in the world and may be enjoyed between May and October to its fullest extent.

SALT LAKE AS A RAILROAD CENTER.

(By John E. Hansen, City Editor Deseret News.)

The importance of Salt Lake as a railroad center has been long recognized by the leading business men of the community, and by the big transportation companies of the country. Situated as it is, in the very heart of a vast tributary region, with no competitor of note between Denver and San Francisco, and with none at all for a thousand miles north and south, its position is impregnable. And particularly gratifying to the citizens of Utah, is the fact that conditions, natural and artificial, will continue to develop and strengthen the proud place the city occupies.

The reason is obvious. Ever since the coming of the pioneers, it has been a furnishing and distributing point. Year by year its trade has increased. The passing of each decade has seen it far in advance of the mark reached the decade before. The builders of our railroads have carefully noted this certain and unvarying trend of trade development, and have not been slow to make provision for it. In the analyses of business inquiry and acquittance they have seen dependent territory gradually added to the field covered by the wide-awake, hustling trade-getter of the chief city of the intermountain country. All that has meant growth, and growth has meant increased facilities for handling both freight and passenger traffic.

Few people realize that the jobbing business of this city, for 1903, will closely approximate, if not exceed, $35,000,000. This is nearly three times as much jobbing business as Denver does in a similar period. This is a fact worth remembering. It gives a faint idea of what Salt Lake wholesalers are doing in the surrounding states through their acumen and the natural advantage the city holds over far-away sister cities, when it comes to supplying the demands of a great and growing area—an area that includes Idaho, Wyoming, Montana, Nevada, and portions of Oregon, California and Colorado, with not infrequent invasion into fields far beyond, where the superiority of Utah manufactured goods is recognized.

Just now the railroads of Utah are making a big forward jump. Immense sums are being spent in an increase of mileage, and a general betterment of trackage and equipment, to say nothing of the acquittance in Salt Lake City of new and valuable real estate holdings. Notably among the improvements is the projected new depot to be erected for the joint occupancy of the Oregon Short Line and the San Pedro, Los Angeles & Salt Lake, at a cost of $250,000. A similar structure is to be built for the Rio Grande Western and the Western Pacific, the last-named road being the proposed outlet from this city of the Gould lines, which will then form a complete transcontinental system.

As all of the avenues of travel led to Rome of old, so do all the railroads of the Great West lead to Salt Lake. This is the common center where they all meet. From here they extend east, west, north, south, threading every part of the State and furnishing each section with a rapid and up-to-date means of transportation and communication with the outside world. From the viewpoint of a railroad man, the city's past is a proud one; its present is full of promise; its future is assured.

THE STATE OF UTAH.

The State of Utah covers 85,000 square miles of territory and embraces within its borders every condition of climate from temperate to semi-tropical. It lies along the western slope of the Rocky mountains, and is the natural center of a vast area which is rapidly coming to be recognized as the richest section of the Union in natural resources and potential development. It was settled in 1847 by "Mormon" pioneers, and in the comparatively brief period that has elapsed since then, it has made such marvelous strides in material, social and business progress as to excite the wonder and admiration of the observer. Within the memory of many of its citizens, the country enclosed by its boundary lines was an arid, treeless and uninhabited desert; today it is the home of 300,000 industrious, prosperous and patriotic people; its valleys are filled to the mountain side with fields of waving grain and orchards of choicest fruits, and its educational and charitable institutions are among the best in the land.

Coal Interests.—Practical operators who have made the coal deposits of Utah a study, make the statement that these are inexhaustible. Just how many thousands of acres they embrace is not definitely known. But the State will be able to produce coal, and of the most excellent character, years after the extensive fields of Pennsylvania and the Virginias have been worked out. The State boasts of a number of large mines located in many counties, and innumerable smaller ones, but they convey no legitimate idea as to the vastness of the coal deposits. For hundreds of miles in the southern part of the State the out-croppings are mute testimonials of great bodies of fuel lying under the surface strata. They are easily accessible, as it is not necessary to sink to great depths to mine. Therefore the cost of mining much of the coal is minimized. In character the coal of Utah is not excelled by that of any coal producing State in the Union. It is of two classes—steam producing and coke making. The demand for the steam coal is growing throughout the State, and large manufacturing concerns in adjoining commonwealths have learned to appreciate its value, and are buying it in increasing quantities each year.

Salt Lake Schools.—If there is one thing of which the people of Salt Lake are prouder than all others, it is their public schools. The school system is as perfect as the experience of the years can make it. There is no one thing that has been overlooked which could add to their efficiency and keep them up to the highest possible standard.

Throughout the city are scattered school buildings which, in architectural design and beauty of surroundings, are unequaled in any city of its size in the United States. The magnificent sum of $1,170,885.53 has been spent in the purchase of sites and the erection and equipping of these school buildings. The interior of the schools is as perfect as their exterior beauty. All that is modern in the way of heating and furnishing has been supplied, until the very acme of comfort and healthfulness has been attained. In all there are twenty-six school buildings in the city, which are used for public school purposes, most of which are of recent structure.

From the first the schools have been kept free from partisan politics, and some of the best citizens of the city have considered it an honor to be members of the school board and bring to it their ripest experience. The highest possible ability has been always the object in the selection of teachers of the various grades, and as a consequence 322 ladies and gentlemen who are directly employed in the schools as teachers, principals and special directors, form a body of educators which would do credit to any city in the world.

GROWTH OF SALT LAKE CITY, AS SHOWN BY HER BANKS.

While the growth of Salt Lake City is reflected in many ways, perhaps there is no better means of gauging its rapid expansion along the various lines of trade than to examine the record of its banks. These figures are obtainable under the call of the Secretary of State and represent the condition that existed at the close of business on November
