Celebration of the 150th anniversary of "Dixie" Mission

What was it like 150 years ago? How did people feel about coming to this desolate place among the sandstone and lava beds?

In commemoration of the 150th anniversary of the settlement of St. George as the center of the Dixie Mission, three local pioneers will serve as examples of the sacrifices, struggles — and humor that filled the lives of those who began the creation of this beautiful area of Southern Utah.

Through music by the Southern Utah Heritage Choir and musical instruments of the era—let the words, dancing, and music be a reminder of how much we enjoy because of those who came before.
