

Cultural & Medicinal Plants Workshop with Shivwits Band Member Carmen Clark

Friday October 4th
3 – 5:30 pm
Dixie State University
Gardner Conference Room B

Conserve Southwest Utah and the Multicultural & Inclusion Center welcome Carmen Clark as part of Curanderismo & Native American Healing (Natural Gifts of the Earth) events at Dixie State University.

Learn to make split twig willow figurines

Follow-up plant ID hikes in the beautiful Red Cliffs National Conservation Area pictured above.

Free to the public, preregister online at:
www.conserveswu.org/nativeplants

Conserve Southwest Utah is a grassroots non-profit dedicated to protecting natural and cultural resources in Washington County for the benefit of present and future generations.

Cultural & Medicinal Plants Workshop with Shivwits Band Member Carmen Clark

Friday October 4th
3 – 5:30 pm
Dixie State University
Gardner Conference Room B

Conserve Southwest Utah and the Multicultural & Inclusion Center welcome Carmen Clark as part of Curanderismo & Native American Healing (Natural Gifts of the Earth) events at Dixie State University.

Learn to make split twig willow figurines

Follow-up plant ID hikes in the beautiful Red Cliffs National Conservation Area pictured above.

Free to the public, preregister online at:
www.conserveswu.org/nativeplants

Conserve Southwest Utah is a grassroots non-profit dedicated to protecting natural and cultural resources in Washington County for the benefit of present and future generations.