Presented by Scott Bassett

In February 1942, President Franklin D. Roosevelt signed Executive Order 9066 requiring the forced removal of over 120,000 Americans of Japanese descent and immigrants from Japan living on the west coast. The Central Utah Relocation Camp (Topaz, Utah) was one of one of ten "camps" built to house the evacuees. Learn about their Trek to Topaz first hand from Topaz Museum Board member Scott Bassett.
