

Educational Opportunities Greater Today For Youth Training

By JOHN T. WOODBURY Jr.

For every man, young or old who needs educational or vocational training, who wants to qualify himself to do something useful, there are great opportunities in our schools today. Even for boys of seventeen new classes are being organized to teach wood working, electricity and automotive mechanics. These classes, many of them are conducted at government expense.

We have taken pains to contact the boys and men that we thought might be interested. It is impossible to interview every possible prospect, but we have diligently sought both privately and in public meetings to announce the enlarged program to all who ought to be encouraged to enter one of these profitable classes.

If any man or woman, girl or boy has, not been accosted, or if any person knows anyone who would be benefited by attending either night or day classes, please accept our invitation to investigate and refer would-be-educated-or-trained people to the school for information.

Never before have opportunities been so rife. Never before has education come to close to the masses and their immediate and prospective needs. Never before has it been given so nearly free of costs. The danger is that being so nearly gratis it may not be appreciated.

More than, this, for those who need help, youth between 18 and 25, are eligible to receive an opportunity to earn money to help themselves through school by means of the NYA.

The opportunities for everyone to gain competence are manifold, rich and all but all-pervasive.
