

OBITUARY.

Alma T Angel, an Early Pioneer of Utah, Dies at Leeds.

Alma Truman Angell, a former resident of this valley, died at Leeds, Utah, June 12, 1911. He was an invalid for the last 14 years of his life, most of which time he was almost helpless.

Mr. Angell was born in New York state, Jan. 12, 1834, and was the son of Solomon and Eunice Clark Young Angell. His parents embraced the gospel in New York and with them he came west to Nauvoo but soon moved to Council Bluffs. In 1848 he came to Utah with the family and settled in Salt Lake. He married Charlotte Buys Nov. 9, 1852, and in 1865 with his wife and children he moved to the southern part of the state where he spent the greater part of his remaining life. In 1888 they moved to Wasatch county and settled upon a homestead on Daniels Creek but sold out two years later and returned to Leeds.

His posterity is 16 children, 70 grand children, and 21 great grand children. He is survived by his wife and six of the children.

He served in the Echo canyon war and took part in "the move", as it was called, when the people of the northern part of the state deserted their homes and moved to Utah county until Johnston's army passed through and located in Cedar valley. Later when there was a threatened bombardment of Salt Lake City by the army stationed at Ft. Douglas, he was a member of President Young's body guard. He was baptised into the church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints in 1862 and died a faithful member of that organization.
